FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONEY MARKET.

MONDAY, Sept. 20—6 P.M.

The bank statement made up this afternoon compares as follows with the statement which appeared last week—
Week ending. Loans. Specie. Circulation. Deposits.
Sept. 13. $25,012,211 7,834,250 102,567,523
Sept. 20. 124,640,258 26,808,000 7,912,604 104,733,688
Increase... 748,573 1,536,138
Decrease... -364,103 520,974

These items are about what was expected, except in the deposit column, which seems to have increased, rather unexpectedly, nearly two millions of dollars. The increase, however, is rather apparent than real, as the following comparison shows—

Undrawn deposits, September 13.... $36,905,175
Undrawn deposits, September 20.... 87,129,705

The clearings during the week have been heavier than usual. The specie column shows an apparent increase of nearly three-quarters of a million; but this again is fallacious, as the heavy shipment of Saturday was counted every day in the averages.

It is not likely that the banks' hold, this day, over $25,150,000; and at the current rate of exchange they may lose a large sum this week—though the sailing of the Cunard steamer from Boston instead of New York will help them.

The small decline in discounts is probably due to calling in loans on stocks. So far as we can learn, the mercantile discounts have been heavier than usual this week; but many conservative bankers have resolved to prepare for a change in the money market, and, as usual, the stock brokers are the first to feel the premonitory symptoms.

Money is easy enough to-day—loans on United States and the best state securities being made at 3 and 3½% while calls on railroad stocks may be quoted at four and first class short dated paper at five. Foreign exchange is very stiff. A good business has been done to-day in London and Paris, and the general idea is that of I telegraph to the Four Courts, and some other ward, to send five men each; they went next morning by the seven o'clock boat; I ordered them to report themselves to Dr. Thompson; I ordered them back on Tuesday morning; Dr. Thompson stated that he wanted them to remain in Dublin until the arrival of the British Minister and to prevent any one escaping from the enclosure; it was either Monday or Tuesday evening when I was informed that no accommodations were provided for the men, and I thought the time they were there, and this circumstance, warranted my ordering them back.

Kennel L. Holsted testifies that he met General Superintendent Tallmadge in the Fourth avenue cars after five o'clock in the afternoon; a gentleman came into the cars and asked the General if there was any news from Quantantine; he had none; he then asked if there was any further news from Quantanine, and the General said me if I did not hear of the news from Quantanine, I would be in a better position to tell him what was going on.

The other part of the evidence of this witness had no bearing on the point in question, and when he had been examined the Commissioners adjourned till 11 o'clock next Thursday forenoon.
